Tilden has caused Garcelon to put his foot into it, but will not suggest a way to get into it.

It would be pretty rough if Tilden should send Garcelon his New Year greetings.
Garcelon doesn't want his feelings trifled with in that way.

General Grant starts for the South today. He will visit many of the large cities of the South, and it is safe to say that he will be accorded flattering receptions there.

"The Philadelphia friends" have not yet learned what Grant will do about the third-term. They have winced and dined him, have flattered him with pretty speeches, have given him brilliant receptions, and have hinted at the third-term but—Grant says nothing.

There is more cheese manufactured in the Sheboygan than in any other county in the State. During the year just closing there were shipped from that county 100,- 285 boxes of cheese, or 5,664,831 pounds.
The average price was eight cents, which will make the cheese product of the county reach $453,186.

A Madison dispatch to the Sunday Telegraph says that Colonel Charles R. Gill, of that city, who is prominently known throughout the State, has been awarded a pension with an allowance of $30 a month, and arrears which amount to over $6,000. He served in the 29th Wisconsin as Colonel for a short time, and from 1866 to 1870 was Attorney-General of this State.
He has been in poor health for several years and draws this little fortune on account of diseases contracted while in the military service.

The Washington correspondent of the Sunday Telegraph, who seems to be a chronic growler and a Democrat, must want the Wisconsin delegation to give him his board free. He writes some very ugly things of the Republican members of the delegation—complains of their lack of hospitality, their inattention to friends from Wisconsin who visit them, and so on. The Republican members should club together and give this correspondent his board without cost to him. He wants something of the kind to keep him in good humor.

General Bragg, Congressman from the Fifth District, has been interviewed in Washington regarding the Maine steal. He thinks Garcelon was justified in stealing because the laws permit him to steal. Of course, he considers the fraud an outrage a disfranchisement of the people, a stab at local self-government and all that, but still he claims the Republicans made the Constitution, and they should not complain if the Democrats steal all they can under the color of law. He says such a proceeding in Wisconsin would not be tolerated and ought not to be tolerated, but in Maine he thinks the case different, and he hopes Garcelon will stick to his purpose, to "old what he has got, and refuse to submit the questions in dispute to the Courts. This is Democratic statesmanship after the order of Tilden and Garcelon. He endorses the theft because it gives the Democrats what they could not get without theft. This is the only argument any Democrat can bring in favor of the Maine steal.

There have been a great many appalling railway accidents, but the one which is the greatest in the annals of railways was that which occurred on Sunday night near Dundee, Scotland. A heavily loaded passenger train running from Edinburgh to Dundee, attempted to cross the Frith of Tay a few minutes past seven o'clock at night, when a furious gale was blowing. When it reached near the center of the huge bridge, the structure gave way, throwing all the cars in the river. It is a sad statement to record that not a single person who was on the train was saved. There were, it is said, about ninety passengers aboard, and it is positively asserted that every one is lost. On examining the bridge it was ascertained that 13 girders, each 245 feet wide and weighing 250 tons, had been wrenched away by the storm, and in this tremendous gap the great train was whirled. The bridge is supposed to have been defective as later reports say the gale, to which it succumbed, was not exceptionally violent. The United States has had a great many fearful railway accidents, but the one on Sunday night in Scotland, is far more disastrous in its results than any ever known in this country.

Mr. Charles A. Dana, the editor of the New York Sun, said a few days ago in his paper, that General Grant is "a very common man." It was in 1863 that Mr.
Dana wrote the Life of General Grant, and at that time it was the largest and the best life of the hero of Appomattox that had been written. Since then General Grant has been President eight years, he has travelled around the globe, he has been entertained by emperors, kings and queens and all the distinguished rulers of the world, he has become acquainted with the workings of all the leading governments of the earth, the condition of all the countries and the people, and yet Mr. Dana says "he is a very common man."

In 1888, when Mr. Dana held a Republican office he pronounced Grant "the most remarkable man of modern times," "the most successful general in history," "a man whom the nation will never forget to honor." After General Grant has had twelve years of remarkable and ripe experience added to his life, Mr. Dana tells us "he is a very common man." It is not difficult to understand why Mr. Dana has changed his mind in regard to General Grant.

THE DUNDEE DISASTER.

The Most Violent Storm Seen in Scotland Since 1868.

New York, Dec. 30 a.m.—A London cablegram says: The gale which destroyed the Tay bridge was the most violent ever seen in Scotland since the memorable storm of January, 1868. From the time the gale began it continued to increase in fury until a perfect hurricane raged from the south-southwest. The streets of Dundee were covered with debris. Chimney-poles and slates were whirling through the air, causing great danger to foot passengers. The streets were almost deserted until the rumor of the demolition of the famous bridge attracted hundreds to the shore of the Tay. Reports from Glasgow, Paisley, Greenock, and Edinburgh say that the storm raged with great violence. The wind blew in tremendous gusts. The rain was drenching. All the accounts mention the continuous howling and roar of the wind, which preceded the falling crash of the whole central portion of the immense Tay bridge, which has hitherto been regarded as one of the wonders of the world.

It has been officially ascertained that the number of passengers cannot exceed ninety. This information has been obtained after the most minute inquiries by the railway authorities, and may be relied on.
London, Dec. 29—Manager North, of the British Railway, telegraphing from Luch-arn at 4 o'clock this morning, says: "Several large girders, along with the last train from Edinburgh, were precipitated into the river last night. There were nearly 200 passengers, besides the company's servants, all of whom are believed to have perished."

A dispatch from Edinburgh dated at 4 o'clock this morning says: "The portion of the bridge which fell consisted of several superincumbent girders at the central and navigable portion of the river, which averages from forty to forty-five feet in depth. The train would fall about eighty-eight feet before reaching the water. Some time elapsed before the nature of the disaster was ascertained. The damage to the wires on the bridge and the badness of the weather interfered with the transmission of news, and it is unknown whether the girders were blown down before the train entered the bridge or were carried away with it, and it will probably never be ascertained, as there are no survivors. The bridge was only opened for traffic in May, 1878. It was considered a triumph of engineering skill. It was about two miles long and had eighty-five spans, the widest of which was 245 feet. At the highest point it was 130 feet above high water."

The train left Edinburgh at 4:15 in the afternoon. It consisted of four third-class cars, one first-class, and one second-class, and the brakeman's van. At the last station before entering the bridge the tickets were taken, and the train was then crowded.

Vast quantities of wrecking, such as doors and roofs of carriages, pieces of the bridge, and articles of wearing apparel, are coming ashore.

GENERAL GRANT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—General Grant had twenty calls before he was up this morning, and received as many again before he ate his breakfast. After breakfast he and Ulysses, Jr., dodged out the back door of the Beale mansion and went over to the new War Department building, which has been erected since the General had been gone, and was greatly admired by him.

The General called upon General Sherman and had a chat with him, when Sherman conducted him through the building at the rate of forty miles an hour. Secretary Ramsey, Secretary Thompson, and all the prominent officials were called upon, and afterward General Grant held an impromptu levee in Secretary Thompson's room.

General Grant went to the White House, with his wife and daughter-in-law, at noon; were cordially received by Mrs.
Hayes, in the absence of the President, who is in New York. There was quite a pleasant scene when the old servants came in to see the General and Mrs. Grant.

After leaving the White House the General strolled over to the State Department, where he chatted with Secretary Evarts for half an hour. During the afternoon he received a great many callers at General Beale's, among them the Justices of the Supreme Court in a body.

PRESIDENT HAYES.

ELIZABETH N. J., Dec 29—President Hayes to-day passed through this city en route for New York. The train stopped a few minutes. A large crowd gathered with the city officials, clergy and others.

The President bowed in acknowledgment of the greetings, but made no address.

WARDEN'S FAREWELL.

WAUPES, Dec. 29—On Sunday, at two o'clock p.m., the prisoners were assembled in the prison chapel, and after singing, prayer and remarks by the chaplain, Warden Smith delivered a farewell address to the convicts. He reviewed his administration of the institution, and gave the unfortunate men and women some friendly and wholesome advice, after which he bade them all good bye. Many of the convicts have become very much attached to Mr. Smith, and were visibly affected by his remarks.

THE LAST RESORT.

The Feeling Over Garcelon's Refusal.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 29—Dispatches from Augusta say the announcement that the Governor will refuse to submit to the Court the fair and impartial questions of Governor Morrill is something that was expected. The last resort of the Republicans seems to be squashed. The opposition seems to be confident that they will be able to organize the Senate, but they are doubtful of the House. It is now known that at least three of the certified Fusion members will not appear, which will not give a quorum if the Republicans stay away. The Republicans seem to have now exhausted all peaceable means, and their future operations will be to maintain their rights at all hazards. In some of the towns in Oxford county the Republicans refused to sign the petition to Governor Garcelon, remarking that they would come to Augusta to fight Garcelon, but never would they petition him. No hot-headed scheme will meet the approval of the Republicans, but the wisest councils will prevail.

Governor Van Zandt, of Rhode Island, has accepted the Italian Mission. The appointment is considered a good one.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.

Lippincott's Magazine for January opens with a graphic description of cattle driving in California, "Sargent Rodeo," capitilized illustrated. Dr. Oswald's account of the Valley of Oaxaca, also finely illustrated, is one of the best of his "Summerland Sketches." "Forty Years Ago, or Some Past Dangers to American Liberties" is an able written article, and a paper on "International Copyright," by Prof. William F.
Allen, of the University of Wisconsin, is an important contribution to the discussion of what has at last become a pressing question, and one of general interest.
"From the Farm to the Shop" is a graphic and humorous article, by Mary Dean, capital for family reading; an illustrated paper on Spanish Bull Fights gives a more particular description of this brutal but exciting sport than we have before met with; Lucy H. Hooper narrates the career of the Duc de Morny, the friend and Minister of Napoleon III.; Ouida contributes a Tuscan Sketch, "Umbria," in her happiest manner, and the popular author of "Dorothy Fox" begins a new serial with the taking title of "Adam and Eve." There are several good short stories, and the "Gossip" and "Literature of the Day" are unusually full and varied. The whole number, which begins the new volume, is excellently suited to the season.

FOOTVILLE.

—Mr and Mrs J. C. Cook, who have been quite sick for several weeks, are now on the lists of convalescents and will soon be able to be around as of yore.

—Christmas has come and gone, and left behind many happy hearts. There was nothing of importance going on in this place, but those who wanted enjoyment and were not afraid of the cold—which was bitter—went to various entertainments in the surrounding villages and in the country. About the happiest man in town this Christmas is Mel Chapman. It is a boy and all concerned are doing well.

—Quite a number of our young folks braced the bitter cold on Thursday night attended the Christmas festivities at Or-fordville. They report the tree as being well filled with presents, and the recipients as happy. The exercises are said to have been quite interesting, especially that part in which Santa Claus measured his length on the floor. Perhaps it was his fat looker-on not so with Santa.

—The exercises at the German M. E. church, on Christmas eve were well attended and proved to be very interesting.
A number of fine declamations and dialogues, interspersed with solos, duets, qua-rants and choruses, helped to pass the time away very pleasantly. By far the most interesting part of the programme was the singing of Misses Zuercher and Schuel, both of Janesville. Miss Zuercher's singing was a delightful surprise to the audience, and was well received. She has a very fine voice of great clearness and power, and showed a great amount of culture.

She has been in Europe for several years with her father, studying music, and finally graduated in Italy. She also spent some time in Venice pursuing her favorite study. Finally after many wanderings she has concluded that Janesville is a pretty good place, and has settled there and will make Janesville her home. Miss Bertha Schuel is one of her pupils and does her best to help her. Our German friends are to be congratulated on this first departure, in the direction of entertainment. May they soon try again and may Miss Zuercher be there.

—The C. & N. W. pay car passed through here last Friday, and made the boys all happy.

—Mr. George Deyens, of this place, while making a couple at Janesville, the other evening, got his hand caught between the bumpers of freight cars, and had it badly mashed. Nothing so serious, however, but that he can be around on his feet.

—Miss Ella Beach, who has been attending school in Madison, is at home spending the holidays. We are glad to have her with us again.

—The concert which was to have been held in the M. E. church on Sunday evening Dec. 28, has been postponed one week on account of insufficient preparation. All are cordially invited.

—D. A. Purdy, is in Iowa at present spending the holidays with friends.

—The Cleland girls, Mary Spoon, Mina Silverthorn and Delfie Hawk, are all home from Whitewater Normal on a vacation.

Judging from appearances, Whitewater is a pretty good place to hang out.

—Donation for the benefit of Rev Hall at the Grove parsonage, on Friday evening, January 2. All are cordially invited.
—Station agent pro tem, Mr. Graves, is somewhat under the weather, and the duties now devolve upon John McFarland.

A Happy New Year to All.

We sincerely hope that the Boom has reached you. It has struck us sure, and we were never in better shape to begin the New Year. We have sold a great many goods this Fall and Winter.
We have sold them over our counters, not on the streets and in other places, but in our own store, and they were actual sales. We have used our cus-
the store with a feeling of satisfaction entirely foreign to those who make purchases where they indulge in a siege of Jewing, bantering and high and lofty tumbling on prices. We enjoy the people's confidence, and it is a pleasure to sell goods in that manner if we don't make as much money. We have lost some $2,000 to $4,000 sales by refusing to drop 50 cents from our price, but the people went away knowing that we had offered them the goods on the start as cheap as we could afford, and we shall see them again. Some sales have been lost during the past few weeks by not having the goods, more especially Children's Suits and Boys Over Coats. We could not get away to assort up before Christmas, but are all right now; and have just received a large stock of newly made up goods; in fact our assortment of low and medium priced suits for children and boys was never more complete. Having disposed of all odds and ends, old goods, &c., to outside parties, our present stock is nearly all new and purchased within the last four months.

Thanking the public for the lib-and hoping by a strict adherence continuance of the same.

the store with a feeling of sat-
who make purchases where they
indulge in a siege of Jewing,
bantering and high and lofty
a

their line, and while we were there were crowded with five spans of horses waiting for shoes.

—The first of the season regarding a large wedding which is to take place soon.

—Mr. E. W. Stearns, manufacturer of harness has no opposition in his line. He made the first harness ever manufactured in this town.

—Mr. Homer Potter has fitted up enough brackets to supply all Rock county. He also keeps a full line of pictures, albums, etc.

—Mr. Daniel Johnson claims the cham-bership. He has taken a copy of the Gazette ever since it started in 1845.

—Mr. Morse has a magnificent display of jewelry which was recently disposed of last week, and as the purchasing of jewelry is the sign of the times, we think the boom has reached Evansville.

—The troop of boys called Clement Bros.

No. 2 visited town unsuccessfully. At Oregon they were greeted with a $50 house, but ere the performance was finished the lights were blown out, and "too thin" the verdict.

—Messrs Lehman & Swager are doing a heavy business in the line of furniture.

They manufacture all of their stock here which gives employment to quite a force of hands.

—Mr. Roscoe Merrill, well known among Rock county pedagogues, took Miss Alice Plant to see Jack Jones Christmas, the result is plenty of cigars, etc. for his many friends.

—Mr. U. N. Slawson & Son, formerly of Janesville, keep the finest barbershop in town and judging from the drawing on the wall, the young man has quite a gift in the art of shaving.

—The mad Mr. George Fellows started for Brockport, N. Y., last week. Mr. F. is among our best scientific farmers and presumably he will not be enticed into staying away from old Rock county any length of time.

—The Christmas tree at the Morgan hall on Wednesday evening was a fine success. The large hall was well filled and the literary entertainment in the early part of the evening by the little folks, was commendable and rich in credit upon those to whose partaking the success was largely due. The Christmas tree with a Santa Claus as a background in each, was heavily loaded with a rich variety of presents, beautiful, ornamental and substantial, but as a whole of a solid character; the distribution of which took about one hour and a half. It was a pleasant time for all, and the little folks especially were all made happy.

—The Christmas tree was the occasion of a few social gatherings and dinner parties in town, prominent among was a Tin wedding at the home and in honor of the tenth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. C. W.

Green, of this village. There was quite a gathering of relations and neighbors among the guests, and Mr. S. and W. Humphrey and their families, of Albion, and Rev. S. N.

Wardner and wife, and J. C. Rogers and wife, of this village, with many others.

The presents were appropriate to the occasion. A beautiful oyster dinner added much to the social phase of what proved a pleasant affair to the still youthful couple, on another decade of their matrimo-nyal voyage.

—Willie Mills, who has been working at St. Atkinson for some time, is now at home sick with inflammatory rheumatism resulting from taking a heavy cold.

—A runaway and smash up Tuesday and on Christmas were among the items of casualty to be recorded for last week.

—Burton Stanley's Juvenile and Comedy

Company, composed of 26 members, is headed for Morgan's hall on Tuesday evening of this week in the old and popular comedy of "Pinafore," varied and supplemented with female characterizations by Mr. Stanley, the specialty of which is flirting. Tickets 35 cents, children 25

MILTON.

—A happy New Year, and many of them to you all.

—On Christmas Eve the Seventh-Day

Baptist church was filled with an expectant throne of merry children and happy adults. The room was heavily laden with handsome presents and the walls on each side were adorned with beautiful gifts, making a magnificent display.

The exercises opened with prayer by Rev E M

Dunn, followed by music, "Star of Bethlehem," by the school. Recitation, "Anne and Willie Gray," by Jennie Dunn, Susie

Emerson and Will Whitford. This was illustrated with beautiful tableaux and interspersed with the following selections of music, "Sleigh Ride," with sledge bell and companion and "Happy Christmas Morning." After the recitation "A Visit from Santa Claus" by Miss Libbie Steer, St. Nicholas—in the person of P. M. Green, appeared in an appropriate costume and began the distribution of presents. The exercises were of more than usual excellence and had the merit of brevity.

—The exercises at the Methodist church on Christmas eve were largely attended and interesting. There were two trees laden with gifts, which presented a very beautiful appearance and were creditable to the managers of the entertainment. The evening passed off pleasantly, the only regrettable feature being a slight distance created by individuals whose feet would not be still, and who lack brains enough to enable them to behave properly in public.

The distribution of presents was preceded by the following programme:

Tableau—"The Holy Queen." This

was personated by three little girls, the central figure being the Virgin Mary, who was dressed in white, the larger one with wreath encircled head to whom the others were presenting flowers. Tableau—"The Pyramid of Roses." This scene was presented by eighteen young ladies, arranged in tiers and according to height, so as to form a beautiful pyramid, and with clasped hands and uplifted eyes, they sang the Lord's Prayer to the tune, "Sweet Home," repeating it very softly. This was the last feature of the evening. The excusions closed with the song, "We'll Have to Mortgage the Farm." There were a large number of other exercises by the school, but owing to lack of space, I am obliged to omit them.

P. M.

—The Congregational church held their Christmas entertainment Thursday evening.

The house was crowded to its utmost capacity. A fine grove surrounded the stage, whose boughs were heavily laden with presents for young and old.

The literary exercises, composed of songs and instrumental music, recitations, dialogues and tableaux passed off nicely. One in three scenes representing "Peter, Peter, pumpkin eater," a little shaver astride a pumpkin and gorging himself on another, then holding his wife from running away, and finally looking triumphantly upon her within his pumpkin skin. Another representing Faith standing by a great white cross and pointing up to heaven, and Hope leaning upon her anchor, and Charity extending her hand in benevolence, all dressed in white and brilliantly illumined by a red light,

from behind the audience, was of high order and beautifully artistic in effect and greatly appreciated by all. Other exercises were also of more than ordinary merit.

Finally Santa Claus himself appeared upon the stage and the presents were distributed to the great satisfaction of both givers and receivers. Mrs Loomis, the pastor's wife, was remembered by a beautiful cake barket and pickle cisor, from the ladies of the congregation, and by a beautiful toilet set from her Sabbath school class of college girls.

—John Horne, of Home Bros., Milwaukee, was in town Saturday and Sunday.

He is looking hale and hearty.

—Hazzelise had the misfortune to tip his pudding cart over last Saturday, and the box fell onto his lame leg injuring it quite badly, the ankle being swollen to thrice its natural size.

—The Mark's Concert company are not on the road now, but intend to go out again some time this month.

—Prof H W Reed, Principal of the Ontario public school, came home last week to enjoy his holiday vacation with his family. He is very much pleased with the schools at Omo and Pike's work there very much.

and Charley Ferris, of St. Paul, put in an appearance here last week. This is their first visit for some time to their old home.

—F S Flagler, D D S, of Northwest,

Iowa, is now enjoying a vacation. He is in good health and reports that his business is good in his profession. Glad to see him here.

—Prof H D Mason and wife, of Milwaukee, arrived in town last Wednesday to enjoy Christmas with their friends.

Every day is glad to meet the Professor and his estimable wife once more. He is still correct with Prof. Merham's Milwaukee Academy, and likes his work

very much.

dealer, was in town last Friday on business. He reports trade lively in his line.

arrived in town last week. We were not past due to his late movements.

—Smith B. Bell had a narrow escape

Friday afternoon. He was driving cross the road on a horse at Burke's Crossing, and, coming over the bridge, he struck the end of a sleigh by a horse's head.

—The December number of the College

Journal came out this week. It is one of the best that has been published.

Spring Prairie, where he is holding a musical convention this week. He will be engaged in a similar work at Union next week.

Wyanona Friday to visit relatives. Hope they will return to our village.

—The Seventh Day Baptist school this

Thursday evening at the residence of Mrs Cremb. All are invited.

since he left, and has concluded to "hang out" here for a few months.

Teacher's Association which convened at Madison Monday evening.

—Monday was a lively snow day here, several car loads being taken in by Smith

& Co., Davidson Bros., and Waterman &

Palmer. Price ranged from $4.00 to $4.40, the latter figure being paid for some choice lots.

—There will be religious services in the Methodist church, next Sabbath evening, by Rev. Mr. Miller.

Hastings, Nebraska, a few days ago, and reports Nebraska "the lily of the west."

—Mr. Wm. Squires is very sick at present, and is slowly improving.

very low, with scarlet fever.

braska, came home a few days ago to spend the holidays.

BUSY BUILDERS.

How Capital and Labor Have Worked Together for a Twelve-Month.

An Interesting Showing of Janesville's Prosperity.

A Large Number of New Buildings, and Many Improvements.

Facts and Figures.

During the last season the sound of the hammer has been heard from early morn till late eve, and as the last pages of the year are being filled up, it is befitting that we gather up its echoes, and bind them with the other records of 1917, which are so soon to be placed in the vaults of the past. Nothing so bespeaks the confidence which the residents of a city have in its present and its future prosperity, as a record, not of the words they have said in its praise, but the money they have spent in its improvement. Such a showing of confidence is before us. The record not only shows confidence but actual progress, and is a happy wedding of faith and works. As day by day we notice here a change, there an improvement, yonder the new outline of a building, we are apt to lose somewhat the full force of the progress. It is when we return to a city after a long absence that we are impressed with its growth. So let us in these closing days of 1917, look upon the changes, as they would, strike the eye of one, who is familiar with every rock and corner of the city, comes back after a year's absence, and revisits every ward and street. Many minor improvements might be overlooked, but there would be so many changes for the better, that the thought could not but come with great force—"Janesville is growing." Of some of these changes let the glance be toward

HAPPY HYMNAL.

CANNON—BOYD.

Christmas evening was very pleasantly celebrated at the residence of Mr. William Cannon, of the town of Harmony, by the marriage of his daughter, Miss Belle F. Cannon, to Mr. William E. Boyd, of Harmony. Rev. H. Faville, in company with his brother, Rev. J. Faville, of Fox Lake, Wis., were the officiating clergymen.
Mr. John Storey acted as bridegroom, and Miss Jennie Boyd as bridesmaid. The guests assembled in the parlor at 7 o'clock and in the presence of about twenty-five relatives and friends of the young couple were started upon their life journey together. After congratulations a bountiful supper was served, and the remainder of the evening was given to merriment and sociability. The bride and groom were very pleasantly remembered by friends, as was shown by the table which held the wedding presents. They were as follows:

Silver casket, from the bride's father.
Fruit from her mother.
Set of table linen, from the parents of the groom.
Set of napkins from Miss Belle Turner.
Silver sugar spoon, from Miss Lillie Carlin.
Silver butter knife, from Miss Ella Walls.
Silk dress pattern, from the bride's aunt.
Set of knives and forks, from the bride's brother.
Set of silver knives and forks, set of silver tea spoons, set of table spoons, from Mrs. Fellows, Master Harbison Fellows and Miss Boyd.
Two panel paintings from Mr. Storey and Miss Jennie Boyd.
Silver butter dish from Will Butts.
Lamp stand from Miss Kittie Boyd.
Lamp and pin cushion from Miss Esther Cannon.
Piece of statuary from Freddie Boyd.
Set of cooking utensils from Mr. Willa, Janesville.
A beautiful gold necklace from the groom.
The occasion was very enjoyable, and a large circle of friends wish many a merry Christmas for these young people, who begin their married life so auspiciously.

—Mr. E. Rosenbaum, the advance general agent of the celebrated (Rentz) Stanley Novelty Company, was in the city to-day, making arrangements for the appearance of that combination at the Opera house on January 6th. They will introduce here for the first time, a burlesque on "H. M. S. Pinafore." There is fun ahead.

—The St. Patrick's Temperance Band are soon to appear in their new uniform. Mr. John Thoroughgood, to-day, forwarded an order to Messrs. Pettibone & Co., of Cincinnati, for fourteen uniforms, costing about four hundred and fifty dollars. They are of the same pattern as the sample described in the Gazette a few days ago, and will be delivered by the 20th of February next.

—Dr. McCauley has received an appropriate Christmas gift from Dr. Barnes, of Chicago, a panel representing by black wood inlaid on a white background, a series of scenes in a dentist's office, showing the enraging patient coming in to interview the doctor, and showing all the different stages of the struggle until the doctor wins the victory, and the aching patient is held aloft, while the subdued patient calmly sits, in peaceful meditation over the happy ending. The picture is so full of fun that it would almost tempt a fellow to have a tooth pulled just to try it.

—Monday, December 29, 1917, will long be remembered in the Gazette establishment, from the fact that on that day were added eighty-five names to our Weekly subscription list, the largest list ever added in one day to this or any other paper in this part of Wisconsin. Each subscriber received a copy of our new Almanac, which, for beauty and artistic excellence, is surpassed by none. The Weekly Gazette is increasing its already large list of subscribers with a steady and rapid pace, and now enjoys a larger circulation than all the other papers in Rock county combined.

NEW-YEAR CALENDERS.

The Gazette will publish a list, tomorrow evening, of all those who propose to receive New Year's cards, provided their notices are handed in by two o'clock.

JANESVILLE TELEPHONE EXCHANGE.

Arrangements have finally been perfected, by which the National Bell Telephone Company will soon have one of their exchanges in full operation in this city. The main or central office will be located in Smith's new block, on Milwaukee street, under the superintendence of Mr. J. W. Bates, who has the sole charge of the Company's affairs in this city.

From this office the different lines radiate. There are now about thirty or thirty-five subscribers who have signified their intentions to be connected by this system of communication, and the number is daily increasing. By means of this arrangement any subscriber can have instant communication with any other that the list embraces—the freight depots, grocery houses, drug stores, physicians and manufacturers. Its merits are manifest; its workings are very simple—a telephone and bell is in each subscriber's place of business, a turn of the bell handle calls the attention of the person in the central office, who will reply by ringing the bell and asking "what is wanted." The subscriber announces that he wants to talk with a drug store man; the two wires are then thrown together in a second, and a private line is thus formed connecting the two together, and no one else can hear a word. As any number of lines can be thrown together at the same time, the fact that two persons are using a single line does not interfere with the others. Mr. Bates has all the office machinery about completed, and the lines will be put up as soon as the weather will permit. Among those that will probably be connected are the following:

Gazette Printing Office, Recorder Printing Office, Times Printing Office, C. & N. W. Freight house, M. & St. P. Freight house, Telegraph Office, American Express Office, Post Office, Thor Judd, J. H. Kinney, R. L. Colvin, J. T. Wright, H. S. Hogoboom, Chas. Atwood, H. W. Tilton, Dr. Palmer, Office and residence, Dr. Bond, Office and residence, Dr. Barrows, Prentice & Everson, E. B. Heimstreet, I. C. Brownell, Lawrence & Atwood, Lawrence, Atwood & Lowell, Hogoboom & Atwood, Carpenter & Gowdy, Blind Asylum, Court House, Henry A. Doty, Harris & Smith, John Thoroughgood, Harris Works, Crossett & Clark.

TEMPLE OF HONOR.

A Gay and Happy Time at Temple Hall, Last Evening.

Last night the Temple of Honor of this city celebrated its fourth anniversary, and the hall, which is one of the largest and finest in Southern Wisconsin, was literally packed to overflowing with good people.

It was expected that the Temple would meet with that success which it has enjoyed ever since the first party, but it was hardly hoped for or expected to meet with such a flattering response as that of last evening. By half past seven the hall was comfortably well filled, but still they came until after eight o'clock, when standing room even was at a premium. The programme as published in last evening's Gazette, was carried out with one or two exceptions, Mr. Cassaday and Rev. Mr. Jones being absent. The remarks of welcome by Dr. Whiting were short, pithy and pointed. The piano duct by Mrs. J. D. King and Miss Franc Whiting, a pupil of Mrs. King's, was well rendered. Mrs. J. W. St. John sang a charming song, which brought forth rounds of applause. The short speech of Chief Templar M. S. Prichard, was excellent.

"The Pender House Glee Club," consisting of Charles A. Carter, Will Blatfish, Frank Pender and "Cove" Vankirk sang one of their selections which met with a hearty encore. Although the boys are but amateurs and meet to sing just for their own amusement, they show much cultivation.

Mrs. J. S. Day made scores of new admirers of her skill as an elocutionist and responded to the encore with "Flags and Old Iron." Rev. T. P. Sawin delivered a short but interesting address. Mrs. H. A. Smith gave a pleasing song and responded to the encore with another just as good.

Miss Lizzie E. Battle gave a masterly instrumental piece on the piano, which was appreciated but owing to the dancers waiting to trip the light fantastic, did not respond to the encore. Next on the programme was Charley Patterson, who appeared in costume of "Yo Son of Erin Go Bragh." By urgent request he sang "Tim Finnegan's Wake," which just everlastingly brought down the house. To a loud and prolonged encore he reappeared from "fornia" the "curtains" and sang "Paddy McFaddin." The old saying by some poet or other that "a little fun now and then, is relished by the best of men," and women too, was never better illustrated than on this occasion. Everybody in the vast audience partook of the general feeling of enjoyment, and the Irish songs of Charley Patterson just filled the bill exactly. Hon. H. A. Patterson being called for to make the closing remarks arose from behind a sea of standing men in a distant corner of the hall, and delivered a well timed speech from the "back of a chair." Lastly, but not least, was the drill by the detail of the Guards under Lieutenant Glass. Owing to the jam not half room enough could be made on the floor, that the boys in gray might do themselves justice, but by closely packing the people around the sides in all sorts of pyramid order, the Guards, under the circumstances, did exceedingly well. They had several difficulties to contend with, first the lack of room, second the canvassed floor which was too slippery for drilling purposes, and third the gas chandeliers frequently came in contact with their muskets. After the drill Harry Anderson's full orchestra took their position and kept it until the "wee men" came. The music never sounded better. Anderson and his men seemed imbued with the same spirit of the whole party of "lets have a good time," and all did have one of the gayest times of the winter. The party lingered until after three o'clock this morning, and many were loth to go home at that hour, "just one more lovely Waltz." To those who took part, to the committee, to the press, and to all who helped make the Temples fourth anniversary. Such a joyous occasion and a decided success, every member of Crystal Temple of Honor extends his warmest thanks.

The cure—yes, even the relief—of the trouble resisted all remedies. By the advice of friends, the mother used St. JACOB'S OIL, and with the best result. The child is once more lively and well, and what three physicians could not accomplish, has been gained by one bottle of St. JACOB'S OIL.
